Newspapers by ancestry
https://www.newspapers.com/image/969841641/

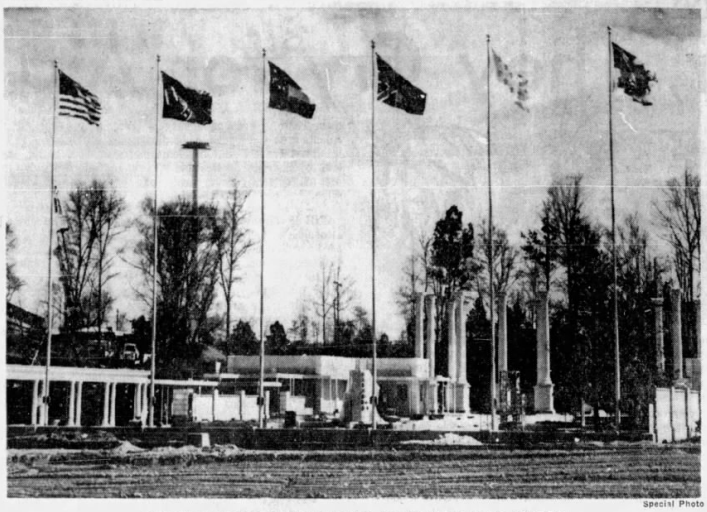
al and CONSTITUTION SUNDAY, MAY 28, 1967

l TV
k Opens
n Officials Attend
CDC Facility

vision network for Atlanta was Communicable Disease Center.

tem, in charge of the facility, includes representatives from Emory's School of Medicine, Emory University Hospital, Georgia Department of Public Health, Georgia Mental Health Institute, Grady Memorial Hospital, Georgia Baptist Hospital, Crawford Long Hospital, and the Veterans Administration Hospital.

On the program were Dr. David J. Sencer, director of the National CDC; Dr. Arthur P. Richardson, dean of Emory's School of Medicine; Dr. J. W. Chambers, program coordinator of Georgia Regional Medical Program; and Joseph A. Slaton, project director of the television system.



Special Photo

FLYING BANNERS IDENTIFY THEME OF SIX FLAGS OVER GEORGIA
Sprawling Park in Cobb County Opens June 8 for Preview Week

Six Flags—A Journey Into the Past

By BILL COLLINS

Six Flags Over Georgia is a $12 million investment that's turning 276 acres of Cobb County red clay into an adventure park of Georgia history under six influences.

Its twelve 30-foot-high columns rising along the Cobb County side of the Chattahoochee River.

It's a mining train recreating the gold rush days of Dahlonega.

It's a collection of antique cars including the Hanson which was manufactured in Atlanta around 1918.

SIX FLAGS OVER Georgia is an English village. A Confederate square. A Spanish fortress. A French riverboat expedition.

It's a visit to the Music Hall with a chance to see vaudeville shows that entertained Atlantans in the first quarter of the 20th Century. And nothing has been spared to create the proper atmosphere—right down to the red velvet curtains with the gold tassel fringe. Costumed college students will provide a variety of song and dance routines that'll bring back memories.

And just when the sprawling amusement park begins to tire your feet, numerous refreshment centers beckon visitors to whet their appetites on Mexican and Southern cuisine. A cafeteria specializes in fried chicken and shrimp dinners and assorted stands offer hot dogs, hamburgers and desserts.

A modern U.S. plaza is sure to be one of the top attractions of the park.

SID AND MARTY Krofft—internationally known masters of the marionette art—have created a circus that'll entertain young and old alike with its cast of 140 puppets who can do anything you'll find in the conventional circus. And then, when the show is over, they'll take you back stage and show you how they work.

The circus setting is a $100,000 stage that's complete wihh a 16-foot swimming pool and ice rink.

Hawkers will provide the true circus atmosphere with peanuts, popcorn and soft drinks.

No, Six Flags Over Georgia didn't overlook the animals you'd normally find in a circus.

They just put them where they belong.

In Petsville.

Petsville is an area where you'll find elephants and birds, goats and deer.

A porpoise show is sure to draw crowds as Skipper and Dolly perform.

But then, entertainment and action at Six Flags Over Georgia is easy to find.

LOCATED JUST OFF Interstate I-20, ten minutes west of downtown Atlanta on the Chattahoochee River, the park has been almost two years in the building.

It's an offshoot of Six Flags Over Texas and the builder, the Great Southwest Corporation, is experienced in what people look for and want in an outdoor amusement park.

Money has been spent in sums ranging from $1 million for the Astrolift ride to $340,000 to construct the lifelike three-dimensional animated characters featured in the Tales of Okefenokee ride.

Six Flags' multitude of attractions and ingenious rides are the work of some of America's top creative talent. Months of historical research and the highest professional skills have been lavished on the park's entertainment wonderland.

LANDSCAPING IN the park is a job that keeps 200 people employed full-time to keep the grounds well groomed. More than 8,000 trees and shrubs and 15,000 plants, specially imported, were used in the landscaping. Six-hundred trees were transplanted and four million gallons of water channeled into the park's rivers and lakes. Seventy-five miles of underground cables carry the power to operate the park.

Angus Wynne Jr., president of the Great Southwest Corporation, describes the park: "Six Flags Over Georgia is a place where people can bring their families and friends and have the time of their lives."

The park is difficult to describe.

However, visitors can be the master of their fate as they choose the atmosphere they prefer.

THEY CAN CLIMB aboard one of the exciting up-and-down-and - around - and - around rides that'll take your breath. Or, they can stroll along the paved walkways and listen to barbershop quartets, violinists or brass bands. Drill teams and acrobats will perform in various sections of the park.

The six flag-theme sectors feature attractions, architecture and atmosphere peculiar to the particular historical era—English, Spanish, French, Confederate, Georgia and U.S.A.

A 12-hour visit to Six Flags—from 10 a.m. 'til 10 p.m.—can be had for a one-price ticket which covers main gate admission and entitles guests to enjoy all rides, shows and attractions.

The tickets, $3.95 for adults (12 years old and up) and $2.95 for children, are good for the entire operating day and entitle guests to as many encore visits to the rides, shows and attractions as they want.

SIX FLAGS OVER Georgia will open June 8 through 15 for a special preview week. Various civic clubs and organizations are selling tickets which are good for different days during the preview.

During this week, only a limited number of tickets—12,000—will be sold each day.

Six Flags is the first entertainment park of its kind in the Southeast.

But, it didn't just happen to come to the Atlanta area.

Angus Wynne and the Great Southwest Corporation spent a great deal of time looking for a site for the park.

WHAT LED THEM to settle on Cobb County?

Their estimates show that 22 million people live within a 300 mile radius of the park.

That is a tremendous area to draw from and the park is expected to attract 20,000 visitors a day.

A multitude of things to see and do make Six Flags Over Georgia an adventure park that's sure to be an outstanding tourist attraction. And that's probably the understatement of the year!

REGISTER NOW
NIGHT SCHOOL—SUMMER TERM
Registration 5:00 P.M.—8:30 P.M.
Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday Through June 5
Tues.-Thurs. Classes Begin June 1; Mon.-Wed. Classes Begin June 5
DATA PROCESSING / COMPUTER PROGRAMMING

	Days	Time	Total Hours	Total Fees*
Basic Computer Programming I	M-W	6:00-10:00 p.m.	96	$ 9.00
Basic Computer Programming II	T-Th	6:00-10:00 p.m.	96	9.00
Data Processing-Unit Records I	T-Th	6:00-10:00 p.m.	96	9.00
Data Processing-Unit Records II	M-W	6:00-10:00 p.m.	96	9.00
IBM Key Punch	M-W	5:00- 7:15 p.m.	48	10.00
IBM Key Punch	T-Th	5:15- 7:15 p.m.	48	10.00

Gradu
Shop at Jeffe
lasting gift tho
Whether it's mond ring for
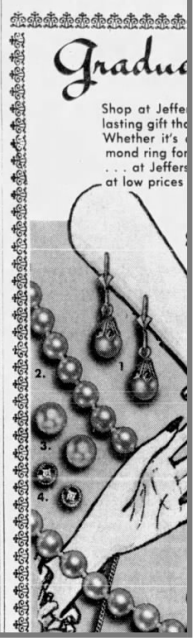
. . . at Jeffers
at low prices



Clipped By:
C_St_Reed
Jan 11, 2025

Copyright © 2025 Newspapers.com. All Rights Reserved.